

Narrative Voices in Cardiology Today

KING'S College
LONDON

Brian Hurwitz is D'Oyly Carte Professor of Medicine and the Arts in the Department of English at King's College London. He is director of the Centre for the Humanities and Health, and is a member of the Steering Advisory Board of the Centre for Life-Writing Research at King's. Prof Hurwitz will be conducting a faculty development session on a humanities based approach to clinical learning/teaching after the lecture.

Join us on 10th September 2019 from 1300 to 1430 in Heart Centre Level 7 (TR 7-1).

Lunch will be provided.

Register Now!